Movies to Tickle Your Funny Bone

April marks the 38th anniversary of National Humor Month! You can participate by watching some of the hilarious comedies and standup routines in Swem's DVD collection. Here are some of our top picks:

- The Big Lebowski
- Daniel Tosh: Happy Thoughts
- Forgetting Sarah Marshall
- Ghostbusters
- Monty Python and the Holy Grail
- Shaun of the Dead

To see what other comedies we have, check out the Humor Month display in our DVD section, located next to the Circulation desk.

Happy Birthday, Shakespeare!

Hey there, thou boil-brained, obscene, greasy maggot-pie! Now that I've got your attention, I want you to remember we're celebrating my pal, Will Shakespeare's 450th birthday. It's time to remember what he has done for us. I'm talking insults, here.

Do you ever deal with a nasty landlord, a surly waiter, an arrogant prof? Brush up your Shakespeare! Put 'em in their place! See how the landlord likes being called a "flap-mouthed foot-licker!" Put down the waiter with "you dried neat's tongue, you bull's pizzle!" You're a pre-med? Blow someone away with "clay-brained, pox-marked, knotty-pated, swag-bellied hugger-mugger!"

Happy birthday, Willie!

To improve your Renaissance ribaldry and rodomontade, try the following:

- Partridge, Eric. Shakespeare's Bawdy PR2892.P27

Or better yet, go directly to the bawdy bard:

- Shakespeare, W. The Complete Works. Wells and Taylor. PR2754.W45 1986b

Or performances on DVD:

- The First Part of King Henry the Fourth PR2810.A23 2000 DVD
- The Taming of the Shrew PR2832.A23 Z4 1999 DVD
